HOW THE BAY CITY WAS BUILT

George Nixon Tells Some Truths About San Francisco.

In the very interesting "Round the Corridors" column of the Call is a very good cartoon by Nankeville, representing Geo. Nixon of the Silver State with his hand going like a buzz saw and talking silver. Accompanying the sketch is the following:

Editor George Nixon of the Winnemucca Silver State is down from Nevada, dressed in his best suit of clothes. He arose from his couch in the Palace Hotel yesterday morning, somewhat earlier than usual, in the hope of being able to find some one with whom to discuss the silver question. The white metal has no more staunch or perpetual champion than the editor of the Silver State. He talks silver in his sleep, and does a great deal of sleeping—that is, after the campaign is over; but just before election his journal gets out an evening edition and a morning edition, and the editor never retires until the last ballot is counted.

But, to continue, and find some one for Mr. Nixon to talk silver with. He crossed the court, walked into the billiard-room, around the grill, out into the court again and presently spotted a San Francisco friend. They clutched at each other's hands and retired to a corner to have it out.

"George, you're looking pretty slick. How do you manage to keep an such a good front in Nevada?" said the editor's friend, in a bantering way.

"Probably because you San Francisco people have concluded to let up on us a while."

"What have we got to do with you Nevadans, anyhow, I'd like to know?" inquired the San Franciscan, looking across the table in an inquiring way.

"Everything," said Nixon, taking a long pull at his cigar. "We built your town."

"What?" exclaimed the City man, bringing his feet down from the opposite chair with a bang. "Nixon, you're crazy."

"That's what I said. Wait a minute and I'll give you a brief summary of how we started San Francisco in business. In the first place when we had free coinage and silver was on a par with—"

"Oh, rats, George. There you go on the silver question again."

"Well, I propose to stick to it," remarked Mr. Nixon, tapping his left hand violently with his right. "When silver was on a par with gold at the true ratio of sixteen to one, and the Comstock mines were running full blast there were about five men rising from millionaires to multi-millionaires who were sinking their money in California and particularly San Francisco. One of them was the founder of a fortune that built this hotel and bought that inlaid table now being adorned by your native son."

Look at the Board of Trade, the Mills building, the Stock Exchange, the Wenban block, the Fair building, the Flood building, the California Theatre, the Nevada block, and all the best buildings in this city. They were all built with Nevada silver and your beef comes from Nevada and all the decent butter and cheese on your table is produced in Nevada. There are hundreds of homes all along the swell streets in San Francisco that were put up and furnished with Nevada gold and silver. I tell you this harbor would be nothing like it is now were it not for the fact that of Nevada's being the adjoining State. Silver has done it, and silver will double the size of the town and the population of the Pacific Coast. Get your feet off that table and come to breakfast with me. We will have some Nevada tenderloins and fresh Nevada creamery butter and I'll pay the bill in silver even if it is as long as the funding bill protest."

An Indian Outbreak.

The trainboys had a lively scrimmage with a gang of Pintos last Friday morning near Soda Springs. A drunken Indian on the tender was ordered off by Fireman Niel Ward. The Indian refused to go and became incontinent. Niel pushed him to one side when the Indian drew a pistol. A fight began at once and in a few moments three or four more Indians took a hand. Engineer Gobey then appeared and cracked one buck with a car link. By this time Brakeman Woodruff arrived and joined in. He got an Indian's head in "chancery," and, in the parlance of the street, he "tumped the stuffin' out o' him."

The gun was knocked out of the hand before he could use it. The Indians soon found that they were over-matched and made a break for the hills. None of the trainmen were hurt, except Engineer Gobey, who was bitten on the thumb by one of the Pintos.—Walker Lake Bulletin.

This news when it reaches New York will be published under the caption of "Great Indian Outbreak."

Washington and Gomez.

The following telegram was received from New York yesterday.

Governor John E. Jones: The editor of the New York Recorder would esteem it a pleasure to print your views as to whether belligerent rights should be granted to Cuban patriots. Are Gomez and Washington rebels of the same stamp? Wire answer at my expense.

Geo. W. Turner.

To the above Lieutenant Governor Satter replied:

Geo. W. Turner: The people of this State are, at the very least, in favor of according belligerent rights to the Cubans, but would be better pleased to see substantial and extended similar to that extended to us by France during our own revolution. We do not know enough of Gomez to fix his place in history, but he certainly appears to be a worthy example of the type of "rebels" made glorious by the names of Washington and Bolivar.

REINHOLD SÄDLER, Acting Governor.

In Spite of the Old Man.

Ethel Hardin, the daughter of Col. Hardin formerly of this State, recently eloped from Los Angeles with C. B. Pooler.

A Riley Hardin, a brother of the eloping girl, was informed of the circumstances, and the wires were hit with messages of pleadings and threats. To one friend the young man wired to stop the couple "peaceably or by force," and to spare no expense. To the prospective bride the promise of the paternal blessing and a brilliant wedding at home was promised, to which an answer was received:

San Francisco, Feb. 4. Are married and have taken train for the East.

C. B. Pooler, Ethel Pooler.

Tina.

There was a large house last evening to greet Grace Plaided and her retinue. Tina gives her a splendid opportunity for her clear and vocal work which is taken advantage of.

Nothing seen here in years gave the audience more genuine pleasure.

She seems now that few can follow and is a distinct individuality in the world of comic opera and soubrette work.

Notwithstanding her very talented company she is the life and soul of the performance and received some very enthusiastic responses. The company could have filled the house two nights, and people regret that they do not appear again.

Pearl of Savoy.

The finishing touches are now being put on for the performance of the Carson Dramatic Club on the 12th. The rehearsals indicate a rare historical treat, for all those fortunate enough to see the "Pearl of Savoy." The cast has been most carefully selected, by Mr. John P. Meder, the stage manager, and an adequate conception of the play will be given. Some of the handsomest scenery ever produced at the Opera House will be utilized to lend realism to the performance. Goldstein & Co., of San Francisco, will furnish the costumes.

Treated as a Kid.

Miss Grace Plaided, the opera singer, who is very small physically, took in Shaw's Hot Springs yesterday with a few of her troupe. After the bath the manager stepped up to pay.

"Let's see," said Charlie Slingerland, "three grown people and a kid. Dollar and six bits."

Miss Plaided, the "kid" referred to, never cracked a smile and the party filed out.

It was reported on the street last evening that a Renoite had become suddenly rich by having in his possession a winning ticket in the late lottery drawing. The amount is said to be $10,000.—Journal.

CHEAP CUSTOM WORK A DECEPTION.

A style of tailoring is rapidly gaining headway which is but an imposition upon the consumer and a detriment to the workman. The cheap custom work or what is called "special order work," is a shrewd dodge for the purpose of deceiving the customer into the belief that he is obtaining custom work at ready made prices. The real worth of custom work lies in the exactness of the fit, and the thoroughness in which it is made. Cheap custom work is therefore inferior to ready made work.

Large concerns, some also engaged in ready made work have grown up of late and depend for patronage upon retail stores, and have numerous agents scattered everywhere soliciting orders and gain trade because of the strikingly cheap prices offered for goods made to order. As a rule these agents seldom obtain an order twice from the same person.

It is about time that this scheme was exposed to the people and ABE COHN of the EMPORIUM shows up the fraud. If you want clothes that fit and are tried on as often as is necessary call at the EMPORIUM Court House Building, Carson City, Nevada.
